Pan American Defies Warning in Berlin Flight

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BERLIN (AP)—A Pan American World Airways jet from New York flew through the Berlin air corridor today, defying a warning from the Soviet Union it could not guarantee the plane's safety over East Germany.

In a protest note Monday to the United States the Soviet Union called the New York-Berlin service illegal and disclaimed responsibility for the consequences if it continued.

Pan Am refused to cancel the flight and the jet entered the 110-mile long center corridor on the last stage of the flight.

The aircraft touched down at Berlin's Tegel Airport at 1:27 p.m., 28 minutes ahead of schedule.

It left New York with 77 passengers, 10 of whom were booked through to Berlin. The plane made stops at Iceland and Scotland. None of the passengers had voiced any concern over the Soviet warning.

A Soviet note to the United States and Britain claimed the recently inaugurated flights were illegal because they had not been approved by the Communist East German regime.

A Pan American spokesman said the flights three times a week, which reach Berlin after stops at Keflavik, Iceland, and Prestwick, Scotland, will continue. Other flights are scheduled to depart Wednesday and Friday.

"Our position is that we have not been notified that these flights are unlawful and until

Lions Do Something Besides Meet

The Hope Lions Club is completing one of its most productive years in the history of the club.

The club has averaged 53 members throughout the year and those 53 have been busy with the sale of bulbs in the fall, Christmas auction in December and broom sale in the Spring. Over $4,000 was collected for charities.

In addition to $800 sent to the blind center in Little Rock, about $200 was spent locally for sight care. At Christmas time 100 families received baskets of groceries of about $2,000, in retail value.

The Lions Club paid $360 toward the grade school football uniform fund. They also contributed $200 to the band uniform fund and gave $150 to the little league. They paid $65.85 for the care and feeding of a seeing eye dog belonging to a blind person in Hope.

The Lions Club sponsors a boy scout troop, No. 92, and contributed over $100 for various scout functions. They also paid the cost of a boy at Boys State. Other charities and contributions amounted to $156.

The Hope Lions Club finished third in the District Governor's contest behind Benton and Texarkana. The Hope Lions Club is regarded as one of the best and most active clubs in Arkansas. Several attended District and State conventions this year, however, no one was able to attend the International convention in Toronto this year. Arkansas will, however, have several hundred Lions present for this event.

Back in the Good Old Days Weather, Work Held People in Thrall More Than Now

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Those good old days. Oh, those good old days!

Old-timers 60 years of age or more like to drop a tear in their sarsaparilla as they recall how much better and more romantic life was in their youth than it is now.

But was it really?

Life in America before World War I still had something of a pioneer quality, and hardship and discomfort were pretty much taken for granted.

Weather and work held people in thrall far more than they do now; leisure was more for the dead than the living.

When old-timers reminisce, they don't dwell on such points as:

Probably not half the homes in America had indoor plumbing.

Most homes were heated by pot-bellied stoves or bally coal furnaces, the ashes from which had to be lugged out with monotonous regularity.

People worked a 50- to 60-hour week.

When a rug had to be cleaned it was hung on a line in the backyard and dust was spanked out with a beater.

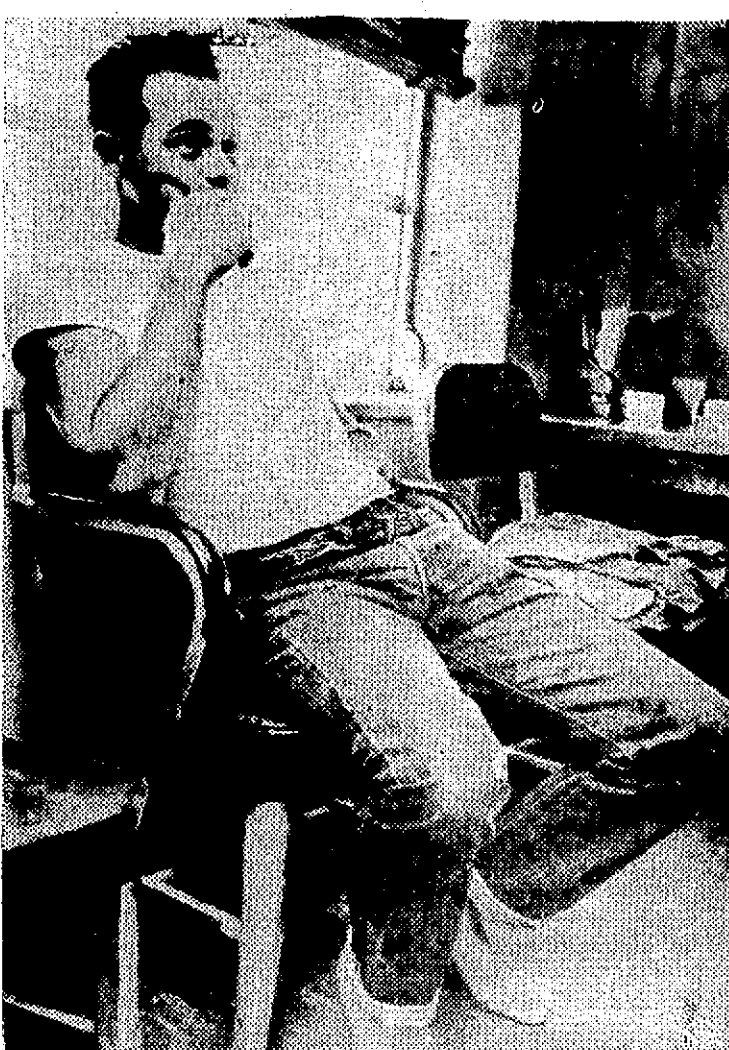

You didn't ride on power mowers; you cut the grass with a sickle.

If you were wealthy enough to afford a car, you had to hand crank it to get the motor started. The roads were so bad you were lucky if you went 100 miles without a flat tire; if you did get a flat tire, you had to fix it yourself.

Most women had lost their beauty by the time they were 40; most men were considered old at 45.

Lodge Resigns as South Viet Nam Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge has resigned as ambassador to South Viet Nam and will be succeeded by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, President Johnson announced today.

Johnson also told a news conference that U. Alexis Johnson, presently an assistant secretary of state and a veteran foreign service career officer will become deputy ambassador, a new post.

Taylor, new chairman of the joint chiefs of staff will be succeeding that post by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, now Army chief of staff.

Johnson said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has not yet recommended a successor to Wheeler in the top Army post.

Johnson again expressed this country's determination to help South Viet Nam resist Communist aggression and to continue flights over Laos when ever representatives of the International Control Commission are barred from inspecting the area.

The news conference was a hurriedly set up affair—one of the quickies such as Johnson has held before.

In addition to announcing the big changes in South Viet Nam and the Pentagon, Johnson told the reporters:

"The United States and the Soviet Union have entered into an agreement for scientific co-operation on methods of desalting sea water.

He expressed the hope that this could lead to important developments in this field.

Lodge's letter of resignation was dated June 19 and Johnson's letter of acceptance, with regret was dated today.

Lodge said he was resigning "entirely for personal reasons" and the tone of his letter indicated no policy disagreements was involved.

Johnson said the county had been fortunate to have had Lodge's dedicated service in the delicate South Viet Nam post.

And, he said, he was fortunate in getting Taylor and Johnson to go to Viet Nam.

In this connection, Johnson commented that Taylor has displayed outstanding qualities of leadership in the past, dedication to democracy and knowledge of the ways of Communist subversion and aggression.

Deputy ambassador Johnson will go to South Viet Nam and head up the U.S. mission until Taylor arrives.

Believe U.S. Willing to Risk War With China to Prevent Red Spread in S. East Asia

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Congress members indicated belief today that the administration has decided it is willing to risk war with Red China to prevent Communist forces from overrunning Southeast Asia.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said for one he was apprehensive about "a general expansion of the war in Southeast Asia" but he added in an interview: "I think they (administration officials) have made up their minds to expand the war."

Aiken, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he hoped that if that decision is made it would be based on "an understanding with Russia that Russia will keep hands off."

"Maybe they can get away with it in Viet Nam and Laos if the Russians agree to stand back," Aiken said. "The President has to make the decision as to whether we have general war in Asia."

Although few others on Capitol Hill would comment publicly on the situation, Aiken's appraisal that a decision had been reached appeared to be shared by many others after a series of weekend rumblings — above and below the surface — in official circles.

One of these came Monday when Gen. Paul D. Harkins, retiring after more than two years as U.S. commander in South Viet Nam, declared it would be "very much" worth risking war with Peking to save South Viet Nam.

"If the Communists move down into Southeast Asia, it threatens the whole rest of that part of the world," Harkins told reporters on arriving home.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., promptly asked the Pentagon to arrange for the four-star general to testify before the House Foreign Affairs — Far Eastern subcommittee.

"I certainly hope we would not have to risk war with Red China," Zablocki said in an interview. "I agree with the general that Southeast Asia is important to the free world—and every effort should be made to prevent the Communists from broadening their position. But I believe it can be done without inviting all-out war."

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, faced prospects of further questioning on the Southeast Asian situation during scheduled close-door testimony today before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. They were to testify in support of President Johnson's $3.5-billion foreign aid requests.

Bryant, ordered by U.S. Dist. Judge Bryan Simpson to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for his order to halt the night marches, worked on the defense he will make in court at Jacksonville Friday.

Simpson had struck down an earlier attempt by police to stop the marches. He declared the ban violated freedom of speech and assembly.

Bryant reportedly plans to cite a strength-in-reserve law granting governors extraordinary powers in times of stress.

The governor denied that he had asked the State Supreme Court for an advisory opinion on his duties and responsibilities under a Florida "big stick law." Reliable sources said the court was studying the law for him.

The law, enacted in 1955 after the U.S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation in public schools, gives the governor authority to take any steps he deems necessary to prevent violence and maintain peace.

State troopers sent in by the governor quickly broke up Monday's encounters and hauled 21 persons to jail. Virtually all those arrested were released on bonds.

Until the battle over desegregation grew tense two weeks ago, Negroes had used the integrated public beach without incident.

During the first wade-in Monday several Negroes were struck and nine whites were arrested. The second wade-in produced a more violent reaction. The whites beat some of the demonstrators with sticks. Twelve more were arrested.

Convictions in Sit-ins Are Overturned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ended its 1963-64 session Monday by overturning the conviction of sit-in demonstrators in eight cases and applying its "one voter, one vote" rule to the legislatures of nine more states.

The sit-in cases, which involved trespass convictions in North Carolina and Florida, were decided on narrow technical grounds as the court failed to deal with this basic question: Can a merchant refuse service to a Negro and then have him arrested for trespassing if he refuses to leave the premises?

Justice William O. Douglas indicated that the justices were deadlocked on this question, commenting that the issue "consumes the public attention, yet, we stand mute avoiding decision of the basic issue by an obvious pretense."

Justice Hugo L. Black, joined by Justices John Marshall Harlan and Byron R. White, opposed the court's refusal to come to grips with the key question and said "the 14th Amendment does not forbid application of state's trespass laws."

The reapportionment rulings, involving the state legislatures of Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Oklahoma, Washington, Florida, Idaho, Connecticut and Ohio, were based on last week's ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be based on population only.

This decision capped more than two years of court rulings on apportionment of legislatures and Congress. Earlier this year, the high court ruled that the apportionment test must be used in setting up congressional districts.

The court Monday handed down its second important decision of the session involving the Communist party. It overturned a portion of the Subversive Activities Control Act barring passports to members of groups officially designated as Communist by the government.

Two weeks ago the court let stand a decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals which threw out on technical grounds the conviction of the Communist party for failing to register as a subversive group.

In three decisions Monday, the court overturned decisions by state courts in Kansas, Ohio and Florida aimed at books and movies considered obscene.

Goldberg's majority opinion said "we believe that appellants in this case (Mrs. Flynn and Aptheker) should not be required to assume the burden of demonstrating that Congress could have written a statute which might constitutionally have prohibited their travel."

The section, as written, can not stand, he said.

Freedom of association, Goldberg said, is itself guaranteed by the First Amendment, so "restrictions imposed upon the right to travel cannot be dismissed by asserting that the right could be fully exercised if the individual would first yield up his membership in a given association."

Mrs. Flynn, who made an eight-month tour of Communist countries in 1960, and Aptheker were notified in 1962 that their passports were revoked. They sued in U.S. District Court here to have the passports reissued and asked that the law be declared unconstitutional.

The District Court upheld the section as a reasonable protection against "the threat posed by the world Communist movement."

we are, we will continue them," the spokesman said.

"We don't negotiate with the Soviet government," the State Department does. The State Department and the West Berlin government gave their approval and until the State Department withdraws its approval, we will continue to operate jet flights into Berlin."

State Department officials in Washington did not regard the Communist warning as ominous. They pointed out that the Soviets had given similar warnings in the past.

Up to May 30, when the New York-Berlin flights began, Pan American had been making flights to Berlin that originated in West Germany. These flights were set up with Soviet agreement after World War II to supply occupation forces in Berlin.

The Soviet Union claims, however, that any flight originating outside West Germany is not essential to the Berlin garrison, and not covered by the postwar agreement.

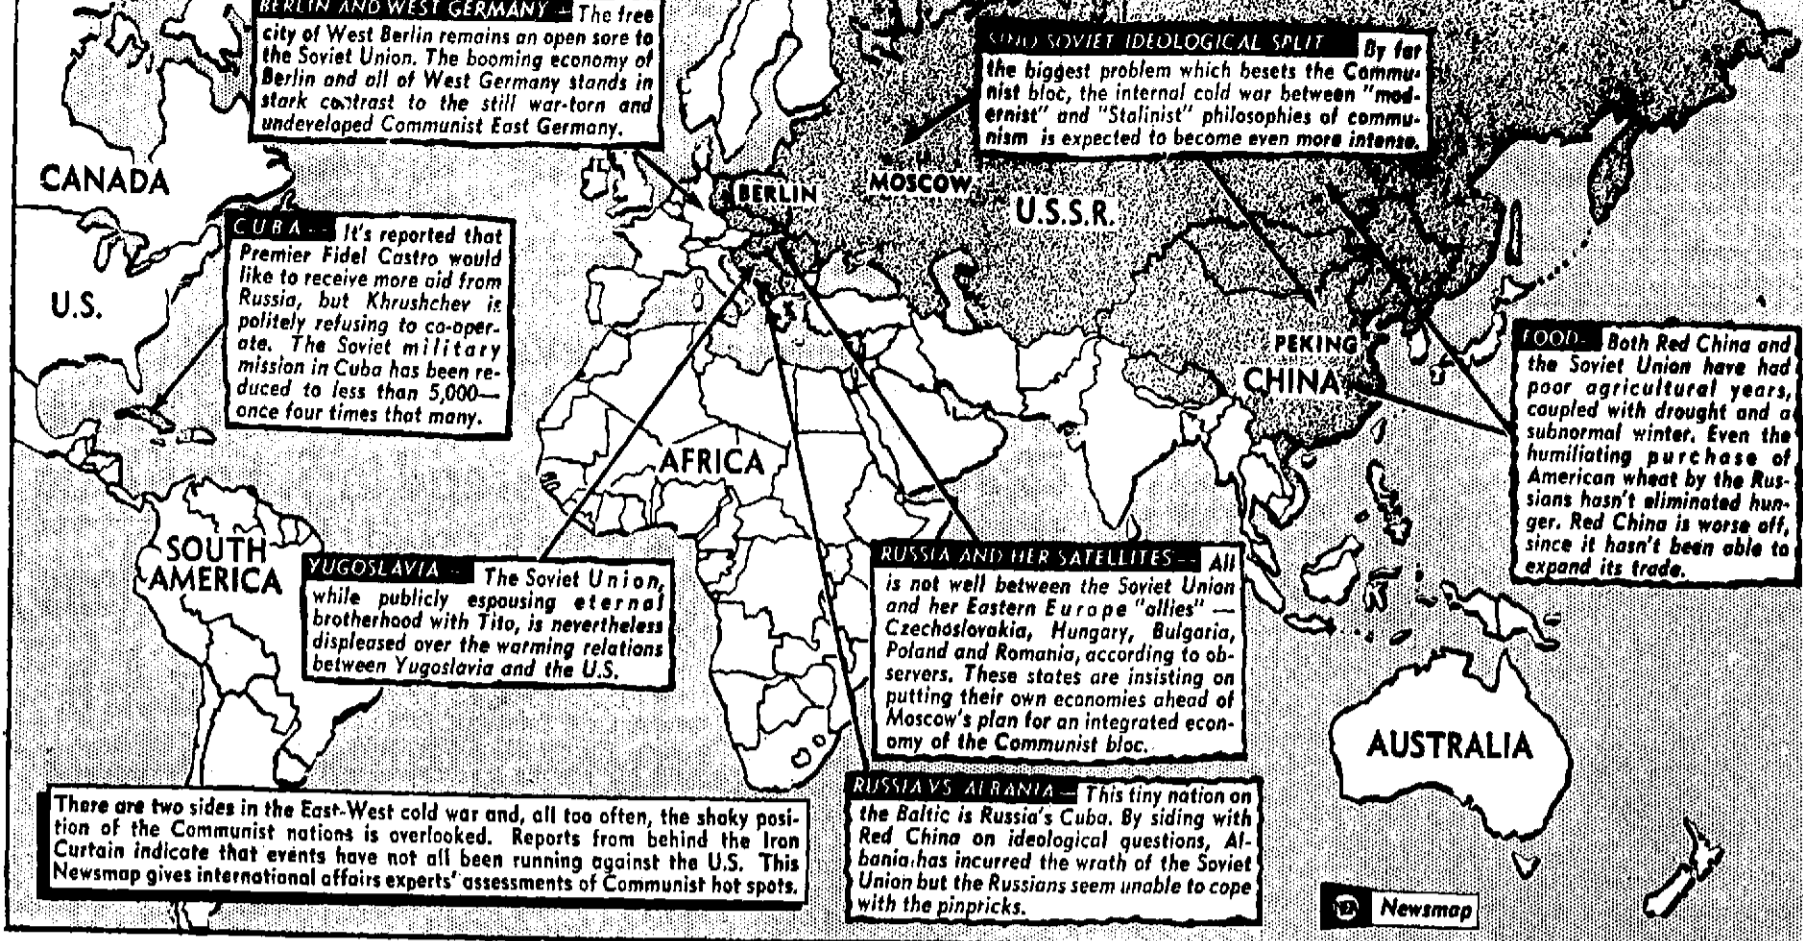

Other lines flying to West Berlin are British European Airways and Air France. The French flights originate in Paris and stop at Frankfurt en route to Berlin. The British airlines fly direct from London.

Park Service to Get First Settlement

ARKANSAS POST, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Post, the first white settlement west of the Mississippi River, will be turned over to the National Park Service in ceremonies here today.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, former Rep. Catherine Norrell, D-Ark., and other dignitaries are expected to be present for the dedication ceremonies.

The activities will mark the culmination of efforts to have the post enshrined by Sen. J. William Fulbright and the late Rep. William F. Norrell, D-Ark., husband of Mrs. Norrell. Fulbright and Norrell sponsored the 1960 act of Congress which made the post a national park.

Post Arkansas originally was founded in 1686 by French explorer Henri DeTonti who stopped at the site during a trip down the Mississippi River in search of his fellow explorer LaSalle.

But even before that, in 1541-42, Spanish explorer Hernando DeSoto and a small band of soldiers spent the winter near what is now the post.

Since its founding, Arkansas Post has been in Indian territory, Spanish territory, French territory, seat of the Louisiana territorial government, seat of the Arkansas territorial government, capital of Arkansas and a civil war battle site.

Arkansas Post, the first white settlement west of the Mississippi River, will be turned over to the National Park Service in ceremonies here today.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus, former Rep. Catherine Norrell, D-Ark., and other dignitaries are expected to be present for the dedication ceremonies.

The activities will mark the culmination of efforts to have the post enshrined by Sen. J. William Fulbright and the late Rep. William F. Norrell, D-Ark., husband of Mrs. Norrell. Fulbright and Norrell sponsored the 1960 act of Congress which made the post a national park.

Post Arkansas originally was founded in 1686 by French explorer Henri DeTonti who stopped at the site during a trip down the Mississippi River in search of his fellow explorer LaSalle.

But even before that, in 1541-42, Spanish explorer Hernando DeSoto and a small band of soldiers spent the winter near what is now the post.

Since its founding, Arkansas Post has been in Indian territory, Spanish territory, French territory, seat of the Louisiana territorial government, seat of the Arkansas territorial government, capital of Arkansas and a civil war battle site.

Children of GIs Not Eligible

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said Monday that children of servicemen are not eligible for admission to the Childrens Colony unless the parents have been legal residents of Arkansas three years.

And, Bennett advised colony officials, a serviceman does not become a resident simply by being stationed in Arkansas. He must declare himself a resident and pay certain taxes from which non-resident servicemen are exempt.

The colony officials had asked if colony admission requirements might be waived for children of servicemen.

Sunday and charged them with speeding. They were let go after being held in jail several hours. Cheney paid a $20 fine.

Sheriff's deputies said they released them about 10:30 p.m. A spokesman for the Neshoba County sheriff's office said a patrol car followed the workers "several blocks to make sure they got out of town all right."

As hours passed without any sign of the trio, concern rose. Cries came from civil rights groups for a search.

In New York, James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, called for an air and ground search by the Meridian Naval Air Station.

The Council of Federated Organizations, one of the groups spearheading the summer drive, said because the three were not heard from Sunday "that means they haven't been physically able to call."

FBI agents arrived in Philadelphia Monday night. In Washington, Edwin O. Guthman, Justice Department information officer, said the FBI was making a full probe of the "possibility that they are being held against their will or that they are otherwise being deprived of their civil rights."

The Mississippi Highway Patrol was ordered to do everything it could to help the search.

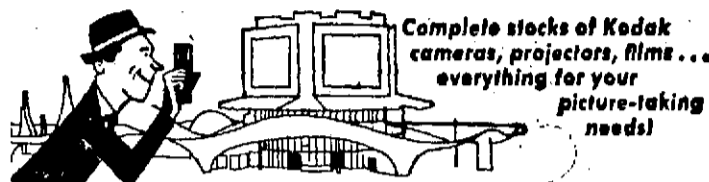

He'll Tell You That Speed Pays

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Harlan Weaver will tell you speed pays. The speedometer on Weaver's automobile was stuck at 80. A garageman said it would cost $20 to repair.

Monday Weaver was caught in a radar trap and fined $10. But the radar apparently corrected an electrical fault, and the speedometer works perfectly now.

Weaver figures he saved $10.

Prospects Good for SS Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — House tax writers vote today on changes in the Social Security system. Prospects are good for an increase in the tax rate and the old age payments, but had for the administration's proposal to include health care.

The Ways and Means Committee, which has been holding closed-door sessions off and on for three months, is understood to favor an increase of about six per cent in payments.

This would roughly parallel the increase in the cost of living since 1959, when the present rates were set, and would require an increase of about one-fourth of one per cent in the payroll tax and an increase in the taxable income to $5,400 from the present $4,800.

Officers Elect

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Sgt. James Sites of the Colorado Highway Patrol was elected president Tuesday of the National Peace Officers Association at the groups annual convention here. Others elected were Brooks Cannon of Inglewood, Calif.; William Gleason of Imperial, Neb., and Gerald Leighton of Grand Junction, Colo., vice presidents. Pauline Cappiello of Omaha, Neb., was named secretary-treasurer.

CHATTER

By "Bill"

Sombody starts a new kind of business every day, and sometimes you really don't need much to start with... just an idea.

Fact is, six men did exactly that, started an "Idea" Factory. This is an incorporated business, and anyone who has an idea of any sort can bring it to the Idea Factory. They will test it, go through a processing period and put it into effective action. In the end, it will be handed back to the owner, patented, etc., and then it will be up to him to make the next move.

This isn't for cranks, or whims or pranksters; it is a bonafide business, and will no doubt be the cause and effect of many new products being put on the market.

Right now, with or without a factory, we have more ideas than Carter has oats. Naturally, you know what they are... new clothes!

The smartest new transition is the lean and easy coatdress. Lightly fitted lines, double-breasted closing with chiffon scarf that softens the wide-cut neckline and pointed collar. The fabric is cotton, rayon and silk, a blend that looks MUCH more expensive than the $17.95 that it is! All sizes (almost) and several colors.

The beautifully textured dacron crepe over-blossom tops a slim-line skirt. Open shirt collar and cuffed sleeves gives a smart finish. Blue-black, aqua-brown, washable and yet dark... $22.95.

And, whatever you do, don't start anywhere without an Arnel jersey! They are a MUST, and you MUST see our one- and two-piece styles. Soft monotone prints and polka-dots... $17.95 and $22.95.

We have more ideas then space, so... we invite you to shop at Raley's Style Shoppe, Hope's House of Fashion.

All summer dresses are reduced for clearance.

"DEAR ABBY"

KEEP HIM IN SIGHT!

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: I am 19 and my husband is 28. We have two children. My husband has always been a sensible man until he got mixed up with a character from work. This guy is 43 and thinks he is 18. He goes to the beach every week-end with his portable radio and tries to pick up girls young enough to be his daughters. My husband has been going to the beach with him and I don't like it. I told my husband to stay away from this character and it has caused lots of arguments between us. What would YOU do?

DISGUSTED

Dear Disgusted: I'd go with him, and take the kids. One of them is sure to call him "Daddy."

Dear Abby: Does giving a girl a pearl ring for her little finger mean that you are engaged to her? I gave a girl a pearl ring and told her she should have the jewelry store make it fit her LITTLE finger. Well, she is wearing it on her ENGAGEMENT finger and she's telling everyone we are engaged. I always thought that a diamond ring was the only kind that meant engagement, but now people are telling me that a pearl ring could mean the same thing. I like this girl a lot, but I don't want to be engaged to her. What do I do now?

WORRIED

Dear Worried: A pearl ring (or a paper ring from a cigar) can mean engagement, if the man proposes marriage to the lady and she accepts. You had better tell this girl that you were only interested in her little finger—not in her whole hand!

A good friend of mind had to accompany her husband on an emergency trip, and she asked if my husband and I would chaperone her teen-age daughter's house party. I said we would be glad to. When I asked her for instructions with regard to our responsibilities as chaperones, she said, "Oh, you don't have to do a thing. Just stay out of sight!" Will you please tell me how anyone can "chaperone" a party and stay out of sight? My husband and I sat upstairs in the bedroom and watched television the whole time, while the kids tore the place apart downstairs. I would like your opinion of what a chaperone's responsibilities should be.

"OUT OF SIGHT"

Dear Out: A chaperone should first confer with the hostess to be certain that she understands what the "rules" are. This includes the do's and don'ts of conduct and what time the party is to end. It is not necessary for the chaperone to be present every moment. But she should check periodically to be sure the rules are being followed.

Confidential to Jeff: Keep your words soft and sweet. They taste better if you have to eat them.

Troubled? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For personal reply, enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Quick Rights Bill Action Is Clouded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prospect of final congressional action on the civil rights bill within 10 days was clouded slightly today.

President Johnson reportedly has told House Democratic leaders he wants his top - priority poverty bill passed before the House adjourns for the Republican presidential convention.

This could clash with a pre-convention recess the Republicans have been counting on. Their platform committee meets in San Francisco the week before the convention starts July 13, and many congressmen are on it. Others want to testify.

Charles A. Halleck of Indiana told reporters Monday that Republican members of the House Rules Committee might not be so inclined to cooperate in sending the civil rights bill to the House floor if they are denied the courtesy of an early recess.

Pesticides Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill increasing funds for research of the effects of pesticides on fish and wildlife was passed Monday by the Senate and sent to the House. The bill would increase expenditures for such research to $3.2 million for the 1965 fiscal year and to $5 million for each year thereafter. The present allocation is $2.5 million.

Court Again Pushes Race Decisions

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, undeterred by criticism that it is pushing too far too fast and usurping power, has finished another jammed year deciding cases from civil rights and communism to reapportionment.

It continued to assert its concern for civil liberties—protection of the individual from the power of the state. It handled labor problems and many cases which may seem minor to the general public but took time, work and thought.

Near the end of last year's term the court blew up a storm by banning any required reading of the Bible and the Lord's Prayer in public schools. Attempts were made in Congress this year to undo that decision. But these attempts — to produce a constitutional amendment permitting the reading of the prayer and the Bible — have failed so far and will probably fail totally.

Again this year, one week before it finished up Monday, the court gave perhaps its most far-reaching opinion in years, one which will surely shake the foundations of the old political machines as they haven't been in generations.

This ruling — it may affect practically all 50 states — instructed them to overhaul their legislatures by reapportioning their election districts more equally by population to carry out this philosophy: "one voter, one vote."

The court said the seats in both houses of state legislatures must be reapportioned to get away from the present, ancient districting in which a relatively small number of people in one district can elect one legislator while four times as many squeezed into a single district elsewhere can elect only one.

Earlier this year the court said similar reapportionment must be worked out by the states in electing representatives to Congress. This does not touch the arrangement for senators which is based on the Constitution and is unrelated to population; each state is entitled to two senators elected by the whole state.

The court began to move into this problem of reapportionment in 1962, but this year's actions were the climax.

The court made a ruling which affected Communists favorably. But it was in effect an expression of the court's concern that individuals be protected by the Fifth Amendment's guarantee that no one shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law.

In pursuance of this the court ruled unconstitutional a section of the Subversive Activities Control Act that denies passports to members of officially designated Communist organizations.

The court refused to review, and thus let stand, a lower U.S. court decision of last Dec. 17 which reversed on technical grounds a $120,000 fine against the party for failure to submit details of its membership and finances.

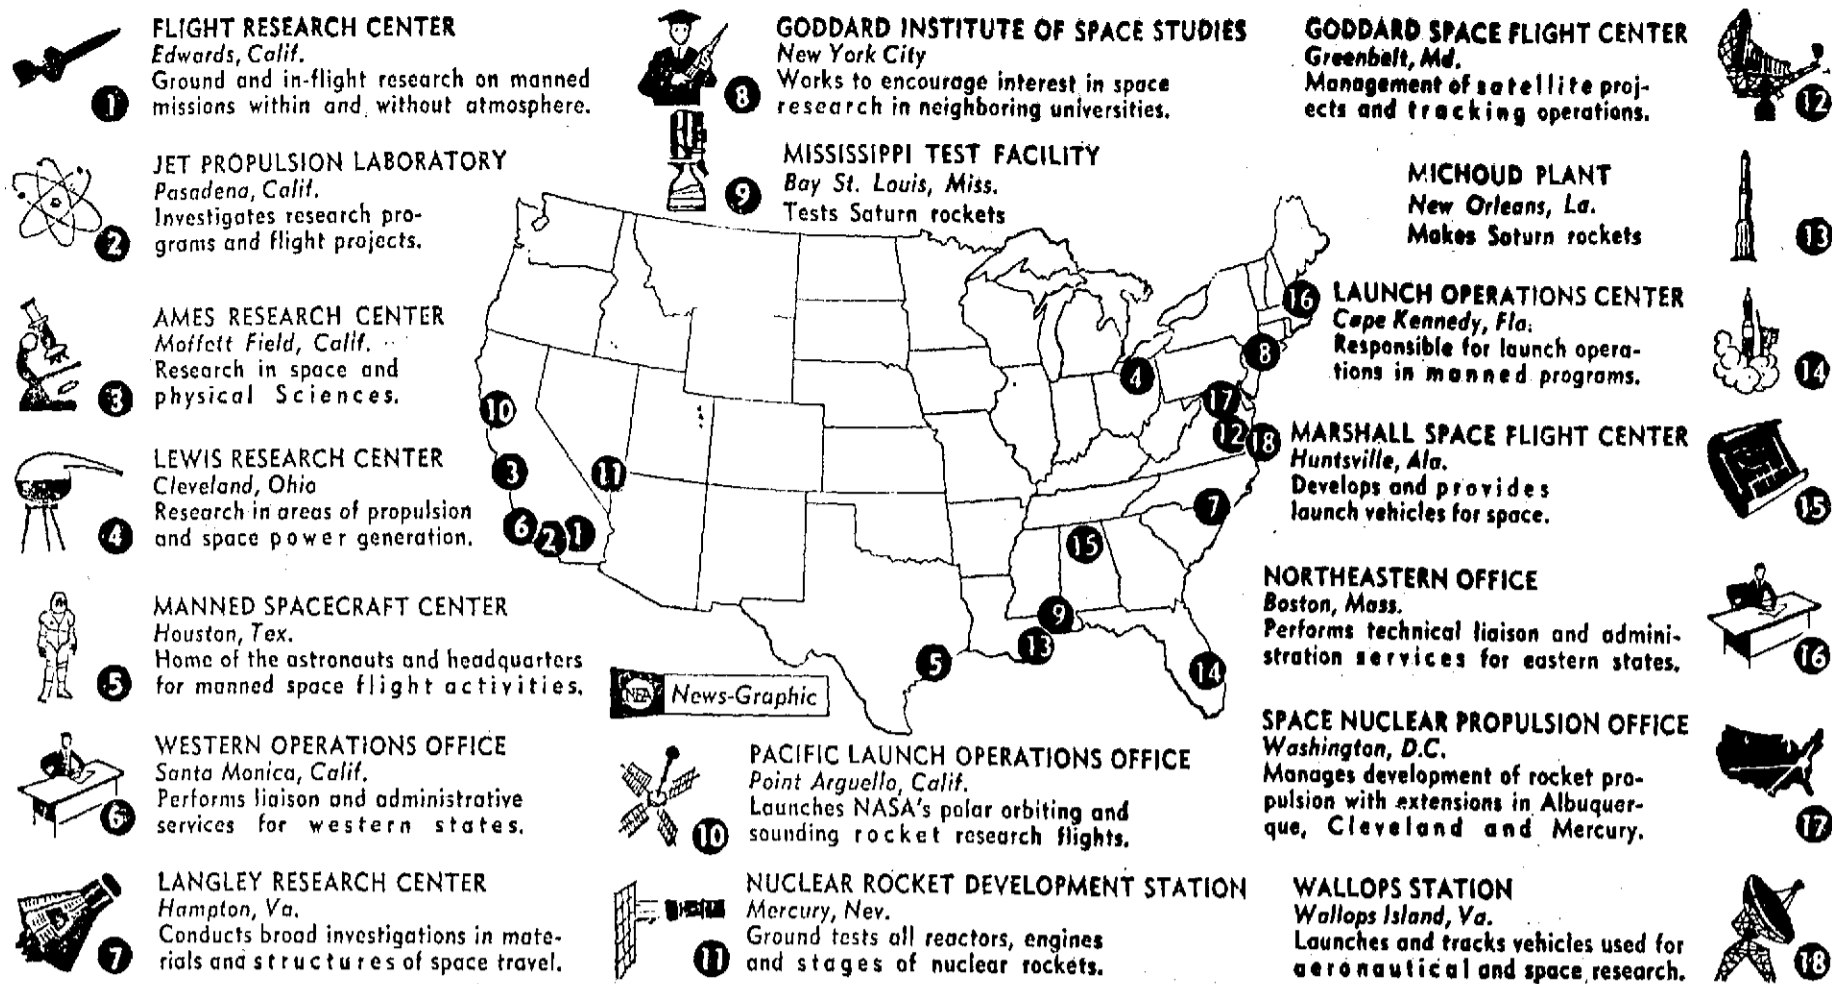

The court was loaded down with racial and civil rights problems this term.

The court overturned a series of trespass convictions against sit-in demonstrators; threw out the conviction of 65 Negro students arrested on breach of the peace charges in a 1960 racial demonstration; ruled against a Southern courtroom custom of addressing Negroes by their first names instead of as "Miss" or "Mr." or "Mrs."

let stand a lower court ruling that hospitals accepting federal funds for construction must desegregate their staffs and facilities; upheld a lower court decision declaring unconstitutional a Louisiana law regulating segregation of the races in public parks and recreation centers; and banned any requirement that candidates for public office be designated on ballots by race.

One of the most notable decisions of the year, or any year, was the court's ruling that the Fifth Amendment, which says a witness can't be forced to incriminate himself, applies to witnesses in state proceedings

Members of the NASA Team

Within 24 hours of its formal establishment five years ago, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration had a staff of 8,400 persons. From this nucleus, NASA's payroll has grown to 30,000 persons, stationed throughout the country in 18 independent centers. Each of these centers has a specific job to do. Newsmap above spots each of these centers and shows how it fits into the overall U.S. program to get into outer space.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Slesar, who has written more television shows for Alfred Hitchcock's television series than any other author, has figured out a way to have his cake and eat it too.

Three days a week Slesar concentrates on his job as creative director of a large New York advertising agency. The other four days belong to his flowering career as a fiction writer.

"I keep my advertising job," said Slesar "because there is no security in writing."

He wrote—and promptly sold—his first short story about eight years ago when he was at home, ill, and had nothing to do. A short time later, Joan Harrison, producer of the then-half-hour Hitchcock show bought one of his published stories. Since then, he has sold over 40 stories and scripts—half-hour and, later, hour-long—to the show. He also has turned out two or three hard-cover books, coming up with "The Right Units," other short stories and a novel, "The Right Units," currently has two ideas for series under consideration by a network and a film studio.

Where does he find his ideas? "If you write, you are always on the lookout for something—maybe only a line that is overheard—that will give you an idea."

Slesar's most successful short story—it has been republished often in anthologies and made into a Hitchcock program—developed from a remark he overheard in a hotel restaurant. An elderly woman said to her companion, "I just don't know what is going to become of Alice. She just sits in that old house and refuses to leave."

Slesar worked and worked around that remark, finally

U.S. Netter Might Be Disqualified

By JOHN GALE

Associated Press Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The dust settled today over a turbulent opening to the Wimbledon tennis championships—full of American upsets and threats at one stage to prevent champion Chuck McKinley from defending his singles title.

While Americans Frank Froehling and Dennis Ralston suffered first-round defeats at the hands of little known opponents, McKinley faced almost unbelievably possible disqualification because of a newspaper article.

The article had no direct bearing on the championships, was written six months ago by McKinley in collaboration with Gardner Mulloy and Jack Kramer for a U.S. magazine and had been purchased without his knowledge by a British Sunday newspaper. It is to be published next week.

But it arrived at a time when Wimbledon authorities are bearing down on other tennis players who double as journalists and had publicly squabbled with former Wimbledon king Jaroslav Drobný and British Davis Cup star Mike Sangster.

Drobný withdrew from these 78th championships after being told he could not comment simultaneously on the play, in a London evening newspaper. Sangster was forced to drop a piece he had written for publication next week — while the tournament is still on.

The management committee of the championships—18 earnest men—therefore sat down to decide if McKinley was guilty of a breach of the rules allowing his piece to appear.

They ruled eventually that chunky Chuck from San Antonio, Tex., was blameless since the article was a reprint of material already published. The word was put about that the 23-year-old McKinley was free to continue his title defense.

Even as the committee met, he went onto the famed center court, brushed aside his first-round rival, South Africa's Terry Ryan 6-2, 6-1, 6-3, and then stepped up to the players' restaurant for a cup of tea and a bowl of strawberries with his attractive wife Wilma.

Roy Emerson still remains the official favorite. He had an easy 6-1, 6-1, 6-0, win over Donald Dell from Bethesda, Md., and on current form, he and McKinley should meet in the final 10 days hence.

In the women's division, Australia's defending champion Margaret Smith, seeded No. 1, is everybody's fancy for the title and another successful step along the grand slam path.

She already has won the Australian, Italian and French championships.

The sharp opening shock for America was the defeat of Froehling and Ralston — both well below form and still getting used to the Wimbledon grass.

Ralston, seeded No. 5, succumbed 3-6, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, 9-7 to Britain's Tony Pickard, a virtual hasbeen on the British scene.

The gangling Froehling lost another five-setter to Nicola Kanogoropoulos of Greece, 13-11, 3-6, 6-2, 0-6, 6-4.

Cuba to Get 500 More British Buses

LONDON (AP)—Cuba placed an order today for 500 more British buses—a further installment of a deal that provoked American displeasure earlier this year.

Cuban government officials signed the contract here with Leyland Motors, Ltd., the firm which previously agreed to supply 450 buses to Fidel Castro's government.

The original deal for 450 buses at a cost of $11.2 million specified that Cuba should have an option on an additional 1,000 buses.

The initial contract, concluded in January, was criticized by the U.S. State Department.

So far, the British government has refused to ban the bus shipments, asserting that buses do not amount to strategic materials.

European Champ, Pastrano Meet

NEW YORK (AP) — Gustav (Bubi) Scholz, the European light-heavyweight champion from Germany, arrived Monday to seek a title bout with world champion Willie Pastrano of Miami Beach in Germany this fall.

The 34-year-old West Berliner said he has no commitment but plans to confer with Angelo Dundee, Pastrano's manager, in Miami early next week.

Barry Holds Key to GOP Platform

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater commands the largest single bloc of members thus far selected to the Republican Convention Platform Committee and may have a veto on any plank he opposes.

Party moderates and liberals who are fighting to prevent the Arizonaan from getting the GOP presidential nomination have been plugging for a strong platform statement on civil rights.

They want an endorsement of the legislation Congress is about to pass, and against which Goldwater voted in the Senate. Moreover, they are contending the GOP nominee must be pledged to enforcement of the bill's sweeping provisions.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., chairman of the committee, said he would recommend a plank to put the party on record for "prompt and effective implementation" of the legislation which has had strong GOP support in Congress.

"I don't think this will cause any problem in the committee or in the convention itself," Laird said in an interview.

If a declaration of this nature is written into the platform, it apparently will be because Goldwater chooses to placate the moderates and does not choose to invite a convention battle over the platform before voting begins on the nomination.

Goldwater supporters played down the possibility of platform controversy.

Lee Edwards, director of information for the Goldwater-for-President Committee, said he thinks the platform that emerges will be acceptable to his candidate.

"We think we will get a platform that is neither liberal nor conservative but a Republican platform," he said.

Edwards said the Goldwater camp is content with the selections of platform committee members made so far. Laird pointed out that from 17 to 19 House members—most of them Goldwater supporters—will be on the committee. Membership will total 100—two from each state delegation.

Laird said he had no doubt that some of Goldwater's admirers on the committee would

Willie Mays Got the Most All Star Votes

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Wonderful Willie Mays attracted the most votes as the San Francisco Giants and St. Louis Cardinals each placed two men on the National League All-Star team's starting line-up for the July 7 dream game with the American League at Shea Stadium in New York.

Mays, the Giants' brilliant center fielder, along with third baseman Ken Boyer and shortstop Dick Groat, were the only repeaters from 1963 in the voting of 270 players, coaches and managers. First baseman Orlando Cepeda was the other Giant selection on this year's starting team.

Commissioner Ford Frick, whose office conducted the balloting, said the complete squads, exclusive of the pitchers, will be announced next week.

The pitchers, who are selected by the All-Star managers, Al Lopez of the American League and Walt Alston of the Los Angeles Dodgers, will be announced Thursday, July 2.

Surprisingly, the National League starting line-up will not contain a single member of the league's leading Philadelphia Phillies, who did not place a man even on the runner-up list.

In addition to the four Giants and Cards, there were single representatives from the Chicago Cubs, Pittsburgh Pirates, Milwaukee Braves and New York Mets.

The NL's power-packed line-up included Ron Hunt of the Mets at second base, Roberto Clemente of the Pirates in right field, league-leading hitter Billy Williams of the Cubs in left, and the Braves' Joe Torre behind the plate.

In all, little fault can be found with the starting squad. The only possible objection would be over the by-passing of Maury Wills of the Dodgers, who leads the league in stolen bases and whose .285 batting average through last Sunday is the highest among the shortstops. Wills finished third in the voting.

Mays, who boasts a .417 batting average in 14 All-Star games, missed by one getting a unanimous vote. He received 240 out of a possible 241 votes. Players are not permitted to vote for teammates. Curt Flood of the Cards, was runner-up with 17 votes.

Williams, batting at .373 after flitting with the magic .400 mark nearly all season, was the second highest vote-getter. He drew 237 votes to 17 for runner-up Will Stargell of the Pirates.

The closest race was for the shortstop berth. Groat squeaked by Leo Cardenas of Cincinnati, by five votes, 92 to 87. Boyer won by a surprisingly large margin over Ron Santo of the Cubs for third base honors, 172 votes to 84.

Last year, the entire Cardinal infield of Bill White, Julian Javier, Groat and Boyer, were in the National League's starting line-up.

This year, White finished a poor second to Cepeda, 75 votes to 172. Hunt, the Mets' fine sophomore, also got 172 votes to easily win second base honors over runner-up Bill Mazeroski of Pittsburgh, who had 52 votes.

Torre easily gained the catcher's berth with 203 votes to 24 for Cincinnati's John Edwards. An eyebrow raiser was Clemente's wide spread — 160 to 67 — over Milwaukee's Henry Aaron for the right-field spot.

Aaron, a veteran of 13 All-Star games, was one of the 1963 starters who did not repeat. Others, in addition to White and Javier, were catcher Ed Bailey of the Braves, and left fielder Tommy Davis of the Dodgers.

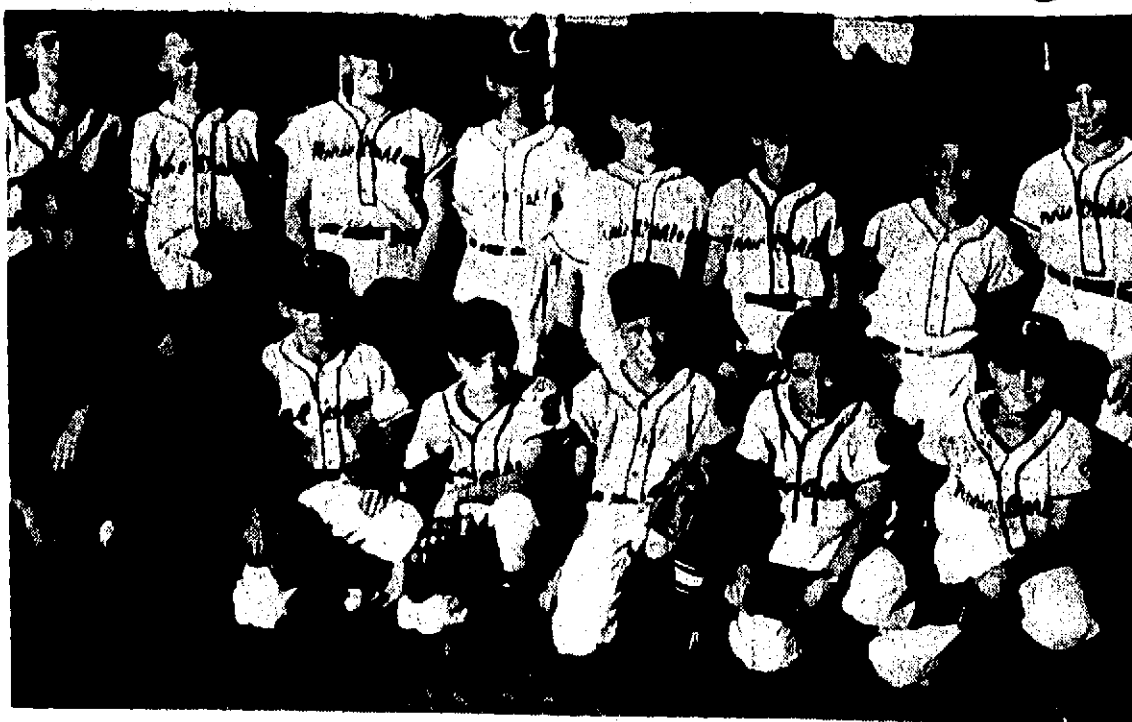

With the exception of Groat, who was hitting a rising .275 through Sunday's games, every starter was in the .300 class. Mays, at .359, was the league's leader in home runs with 22 and runs batted in with 53.

All starters, except pitchers, must play at least three innings, unless injured. The National League won last year, but the American holds a 17-16 edge with one game ending in a tie since the All-Star inauguration in 1933.

San Diego in Victory Over Travs

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Relief pitcher Al Worthington turned in a brilliant stint for San Diego Monday night to save southpaw Wayne Carlander's 4-2 win over Arkansas in a Pacific Coast League series opener.

Worthington came in the seventh and fanned Norm Gigon with the tying runs on second and third. He went on to strike out a total of five.

Carlander evened his record at 2-2. Len Clendenin was the loser and now is 4-3.

Don Pavletich's two-run single in the third off reliever Bobby Locke proved to be the big blow for the Padres, who climbed to within 2½ games of leading Portland in the Western Division race. An error and a wild pitch led to the Padres' first two runs in the opening inning.

It was the Travelers' fifth straight loss.

Braves Are Surprising in Many Ways

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves are full of surprises off the field as well as on it.

Gripped in a seven-game losing streak which has plunged the club into ninth place, the Braves gave Manager Bobby Bragan a vote of confidence Monday with a new contract extending through the 1965 season.

Bragan told a news conference "the show of confidence will reflect on the play of our ball club—no doubt about it." He was right to a degree.

Two hours later the Braves went on a 15-hit spree, including five homers. That was something unusual. The final result wasn't. The Los Angeles Dodgers won the slugfest 10-9.

In reply to talk that Bragan's job was in jeopardy because of the Braves' worst position in the standings in 12 years in Milwaukee, President John McHale and board chairman Bill Bartholomay decided to add a year to the manager's contract.

"It is important that during this slump period we recognize that Bobby Bragan has put great effort into the building of this club and we are confident that his work will pay off this year and in future years," McHale said.

"We believe we have a good manager and don't want to back away from him when we're in trouble."

"It's beautiful, just beautiful," Bragan said. "This is one of the happiest occasions of my career. My relationship with the Braves is one of the greatest in baseball."

A former major league infielder, the 46-year-old Bragan served terms as manager of Pittsburgh and Cleveland. He was hired by the Braves after Birdie Tebbetts quit to go to Cleveland following the 1962 season.

Under Bragan last year, the Braves finished sixth with an 84-78 record. This season they are ninth with a 30-35 record.

Pro Tackles Sign Their Contracts

CHICAGO (AP) — Earl Leggett and John Johnson, a pair of massive tackles who anchored the brilliant defense of the Chicago Bears last season, have signed their 1964 contracts, owner — Coach George Halas announced today.

Pinch hitter Willie Smith, a pitcher-outfielder, slashed a single in the seventh inning that broke a 2-2 tie and sent the Angels on to their sixth straight victory. The hit was the seventh for Smith in 13 pinch-hitting appearances. Mike Brunley collected three hits and an RBI for the Senators.

Larry Brown homered in the eighth for the Indians, sending their game with the Twins into extra innings. Cleveland came to bat in the 11th when rain struck. After a delay of an hour the game was called.

Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison each drove in three runs for the Twins with Allison hitting his 17th homer with one aboard.

Willie McCovey smashed a grand-slam homer for the Giants in the sixth after dropping a fly ball for a two-run error in the fifth. Cincinnati starter John Tsitouris had a no-hitter until the sixth, when pinch hitter Cuck Hiller singled.

Yankees Win No. 10, Giants Lick Redlegs

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
"The show of confidence will reflect on the play of our ball club—no doubt about it," said Manager Bobby Bragan after he received a new contract from Milwaukee.

If the Braves' first game under Bragan and his new contract is an example of what he meant, the reflection is more weird than you see in a fun-house mirror.

Two hours after Bragan accepted the written vote of confidence Monday, the Braves dropped their seventh straight game, 10-9, to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

True, the Braves exploded for 15 hits, including five home runs, but they still couldn't erupt from the slump that has dumped them into ninth place in the National League, their worst position in the standings since they moved to Milwaukee 12 years ago.

In the American League, the New York Yankees continued their mastery over Chicago, dumping the White Sox 6-5. The Yankees had eaten the White Sox nine previous times without a defeat this season. In the only other AL contests, Los Angeles downed Washington 5-2 and Cleveland and Minnesota battled to an 8-8 tie in a game ended by rain in the 11th inning.

San Francisco whipped Cincinnati 6-2 in the other National League game.

Milwaukee led 5-3 until the Dodgers rallied for six runs in the seventh inning. Wally Moon ignited the burst with a pinch double and Dick Tracewski ended it with a two-run single. Tracewski singled in two other runs, the one in the ninth proving to be the winning tally.

Lee Maye, Joe Torre and Gene Oliver clouted two-run homers for the Braves while Hank Aaron and Denis Menke hit solo blasts.

The Yankees survived Chicago's three-run surge in the ninth for their fifth consecutive triumph. Steve Hamilton scattered six hits through eight innings. Hal Reniff started the ninth, and the White Sox quickly loaded the bases and scored one run.

Bill Stafford replaced Reniff and retired the side, although two more runs scored on force plays. Hamilton scored New York's last run in the eighth on Roger Maris' sacrifice fly.

Pinch hitter Willie Smith, a pitcher-outfielder, slashed a single in the seventh inning that broke a 2-2 tie and sent the Angels on to their sixth straight victory. The hit was the seventh for Smith in 13 pinch-hitting appearances. Mike Brunley collected three hits and an RBI for the Senators.

Venturi Can't Play in the British Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The transatlantic telephone cable hummed Monday for Ken Venturi, the new American Open golf champion—but it didn't do any good.

The austere Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews refused to budge. Venturi can't play in the British Open July 8-10 at St. Andrews.

He didn't get his entry filed in time, and the Royal and Ancient left behind—with regrets—that it plays no favorites.

"I telephoned the Royal and Ancient and told them of Ken's desire to play," said Joseph C. Dey, executive director of the U.S. Golf Association. "They were very nice. They didn't say 'no' immediately."

"They apparently discussed it, then they called back and said they were unable to accept his entry. Entries closed May 31."

Of course, when they were taking applications for the 104-year-old granddaddy of tournaments, Venturi had no idea that he might want to play.

In the throes of an extended slump, he probably would have found it hard to pay expenses. But winning the U.S. Open last weekend in Washington changed things.

"I'd love to play," Venturi said, "but I understand—rules are rules."

The U.S. Golf Association gives an automatic pass to the British champion in the American tournament. The British don't reciprocate.

Venturi and his pretty wife, Conni, left today for Cleveland and his next start, the Cleveland Open this weekend. Both were still reeling from the events of the last few days — the dramatic, come-from-behind victory in the sweltering Washington heat and the mad merry-go-round aftermath.

Venturi said he feared he might not be able to play last round Saturday. He almost blacked out from heat prostration on the morning round and had to be accompanied by a doctor during the afternoon.

I slept until eight and then got up. I got dressed and headed for Pan-World.

The vice-president was waiting for me when I was shown into his office. "You're in luck, March," he said. "The New York office said to give you the information. It seems we have quite a bit of insurance with your company."

"That always helps," I said. "We had a flight to San Francisco at 6:30 on May 6 seven years ago. I have the passenger list right here, but I don't think it's going to tell you much. You want me to read the names to you?"

"I don't think that would help," I said. "Was the flight completely booked?"

"Yes."

"Any last minute tickets sold?"

"As a matter of fact there was one—by accident. The flight was all reserved but one passenger didn't show, and that seat was given to a stand-by passenger who was waiting at the counter. It happens quite often."

"Sure," I said. "What about the one that didn't show? When was his reservation made?"

"About 1:30 in the afternoon by phone. A Mr. Joseph Smith. He didn't cancel or anything. We probably held the ticket until shortly after six, although I have no record on that, and then turned it over to a man who had been waiting at the terminal."

"What was his name?"

"R. Thomas."

"Smith and Thomas," I said. "Two good old names. Well, thanks."

I left before he could ask any questions. On the way out I stopped and made a reservation on the next plane to San Francisco.

I took a cab back to the hotel, packed, and checked out. I went to the airport and checked my bag.

Shortly before the plane took off a last-minute passenger hurried in and took the seat behind me. It was Jerry Dell.

It was early evening when the plane came down in San Francisco. I took a taxi to the Imperial hotel and checked in. Jerry Dell was approaching the desk as I went upstairs. I unpacked my things when I got to the room and put them away.

Now that I was in San Francisco, what was I going to do? Where do you start picking up a trail that was seven years old?

The only thing I could think of was my one contact, Pete Moretti. He'd been in New York and in trouble with the boys who ran things. I'd bumped into the situation while I was working on a case involving some of the hoods who were after him. I'd saved his life. I remembered hearing that he'd come to San Francisco and was running the Club Moretti on Broadway.

I looked around the room to see if Jerry Dell was waiting as usual. I didn't see him, but I did see somebody else I wasn't expecting. Nick Potti was sitting in a booth along the wall.

I finished my martini and walked over. "It looks like I'm hitting the jackpot," I said. "I draw you and Jerry Dell both. I'm flattered."

"I don't know what you're talking about," he said. "I'm here on business."

"I know—and I'm it. Where's your twin?"

"Jerry? I guess he's upstairs. We're both here on union business."

"So am I, Rako." I looked up and saw Dell approaching from the lobby. "Here he is now. I'm glad he made it. I was just ready to leave and I wouldn't want to lose either of you boys. You might get a lesson in how to enjoy yourself in San Francisco."

I turned and left the bar.

The doorman got a taxi for me. As it pulled away I saw Jerry Dell and Nick Potti getting into another cab.

Then I took my two faithful followers on a short tour of San Francisco, mostly to throw them off about the visit I wanted to make.

It was about 10 o'clock when I went to the Club Moretti.

I got a table near the band. Dell and Potti came in and took a table not far from where I sat. I wondered if they knew Pete Moretti.

I had a drink and when the waiter came over to see if I wanted another one I told him I wanted to see the head waiter. I'd tipped him well when I first came in so he responded quickly.

"Is there anything wrong, sir?" the head waiter asked.

"No," I said. "Is Pete Moretti in?"

"I don't know, sir," he said evasively. "Perhaps I can help you."

"Tell Pete that Milo March is out here and wants to talk to him. But I don't want to be ob-

Mills Favors Increasing Debt Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., told his colleagues in the House recently that a vote against a bill to increase the national debt limit, was not a vote for economy.

Mills apparently was successful in his discussion because the House approved the measure 203 to 182.

The bill would raise the federal debt limit to $324 billion until June 20, 1965. The present debt limit is $315 billion but without passage of the bill this is due to drop to $285 billion on July 1, even though the actual national debt will be an estimated $311 million.

Mills called the belief that a vote against the bill was an economy vote, a myth.

He said the bill does not involve economy or spending at all—it involves a ceiling on the debt ceiling and not the debt.

Congress determines the debt, he said, when it votes on appropriations and tax cuts.

Any failure to raise the debt ceiling to $324 billion, he said, would seriously interfere with the Treasury to issue notes and bonds to take care of obligations and to have flexible operations.

The preceding day also found Mills heavily engaged in debate.

At that time, he had to steer through the House a bill to continue wartime excise taxes.

Failure to pass this bill, Mills told the House would increase the deficit and add to the national debt.

He offered the hope that excise taxes soon can be reduced but said the magnitude of those reductions would depend on the ultimate success of the last tax reduction bill and to the extent to which Congress and the executive departments hold a line on federal spending.

Negro Named to Industrial Board

NEW YORK (AP) — Samuel R. Pierce Jr., a Negro lawyer, has been elected a director of U.S. Industries, Inc., a manufacturing company with sales at about $120 million a year.

His law partner, Theodore W. Kheel, said Monday Pierce is the first Negro to have a policymaking position in a large American corporation doing business internationally.

"And not because he's a Negro, but because he's qualified," Kheel said. "U.S. Industries has no Negro business. Sam's presence will not make a nickel's worth of business for them."

Cities Long Prepared for Topless Suits

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

Some Arkansas cities were prepared for the topless bathing suit more than 100 years ago — prepared to throw the wearer in jail, that is.

But the sudden, recent furor over the one-piece (or is it half-piece) garment for ladies has exposed a lack of prohibition against indecent exposure in several other cities.

Cities in this predicament are ready to fall back on Arkansas Statute 1-2701, passed in 1838, which says:

"Every person who shall appear in public places, naked or partly so, with the intent of making public exhibition of his nudity, or shall make any obscene exhibition of his nudity shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and fined any sum of not less than $50."

There is a slight question of whether the statute really applies only to men (it refers only to "his" nudity, or obscene exhibition), but there is also a question of whether the one-piece would constitute an obscene exhibition, or whether the wearer would pull on the suit to exhibit her nudity.

A prominent legal source, who asked to remain anonymous, said that before the extent of the law could be known someone would have to put on one of the new one-piece suits, step outside, and get arrested. That someone would have to be female, he said.

"It might be interesting," he said, meaning the court test.

The chances of such a case arising are slim, though. The reasons range from lack of courage to just plain old modesty, but an Associated Press poll of department stores which stock women's swim wear shows none with a supply, and only one city where the suits may be sold.

That is Fayetteville, home of the co-educational University of Arkansas. Some store managers said they will stock the suit.

"We may not sell any, and we don't plan to order many, but if they want them all they have to do is come and get them," one manager said.

Store operators also were polled in Pine Bluff, Jonesboro, Forrest City, Hot Springs, Newport, Batesville, Arkadelphia, El Dorado, Little Rock and North Little Rock.

A couple of store managers said they would order the suits "if there is a demand for them."

Here's the reaction of some of the store managers:

Pine Bluff — "We haven't been offered any and we don't plan to go out of our way to get any. If anything, it would be a gimmick, and I don't think Pine Bluff is ready for that sort of

There's no escaping them—or their music. The Beatles have not only taken England, the United States and Australia by storm—they're No. 1 on the hit parade in Hong Kong. Here are a few scenes from this particular conquest.

Beatles George Harrison, Jimmy Nicol (subbing for Ringo Starr), Paul McCartney and John Lennon charm two beauty contest winners in Hong Kong.

Negroes Still to Integrate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The sale of Little Rock's public swimming pools will not deter integration efforts, Negro leaders announced Saturday.

The city closed both its War Memorial Pool, operated for whites, and the Gillam Park pool for Negroes last week after refusing a group of Negroes admittance to Memorial pool. Both were put up for sale.

The Council on Community Affairs said in a letter to the city manager board:

"The decision to close and sell the pools is morally indefensible and legally suspect."

The pools will be covered by the civil rights bill regardless of

Stability of Wholesale Prices Help

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Stability of wholesale prices — a rare thing during business expansions — has been a mark of the current upswing. But new pressures may be building up to tip the balance.

Already there have been considerable fluctuations in some commodities. Some prices have risen, particularly for industrial materials, because demand has caught up with supply. Others have been raised as a result of recent wage contracts. And more such negotiations are in the offing.

But so far, weakness in other commodities has kept the overall price index almost level.

The cost of living — or consumer price index — hasn't been so accommodating. It has held to a fairly steady if slow upward course, due mainly to advancing charges for services.

Since the present business upswing started early in 1961 the Bureau of Labor Statistics wholesale price index — based on the 1957-59 average as 100 — has moved between 99.5 and 101.2. It now is right in between, just slightly above 100. The consumer price index in April was 107.8 from the same base.

Individual commodity price changes have been marked during the last three years, however.

Changes ranged from gains of 4.4 per cent for lumber and wood products and 4.3 per cent for tobacco and beverages to decreases of 3.6 per cent for chemicals and 4.8 per cent for fuels and power.

More recent price increases have been listed for various metals. Coal prices have risen at many mines after the latest wage increase.

In most previous periods of business expansion price changes have been much quicker and larger. This was particularly marked in the 1955-57 boom.

Since then, however, capacity to produce has become so large that it acted as a damper on wholesale price fluctuations. This was true during the last previous expansion period, 1958-60, although industrial wholesale prices did rise 3 per cent in that period. This was offset by a drop of 15 per cent in the index for farm products.

In the current expansion, abundant capacity to produce also has acted as a brake on HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Vivien Leigh, looking lovely and fit after her recent illness, is back in Hollywood to play yet another Southern lady.

The English actress has come aboard Stanley Kramer's "Ship of Fools" to play one of the few American roles in the cast. This time she's a Virginian, and if she does as well as her last two Southerners, she'll be doing very well indeed. Both won her Oscars.

"The accent is quite difficult, but I'm working hard on it," she reported. "Virginian is a bit difficult to capture; it's somewhere midway between Southern and British. It was easier when I was speaking Georgian in 'Gone With the Wind' and Mississippian in 'A Streetcar Named Desire.'"

Miss Leigh is quite confounded as to why she has happened to specialize in Southern belles in American films, but obviously she has no complaints. She is feeling very chipper following months of rest that were necessary after her collapse in New York last year. She had been appearing in her first musical, "Tovarich."

"Everyone told me I was crazy to do a play in New York during the summer," she explained. "I thought that was nonsense. Hadn't I played four shows a day in North Africa during the war in temperatures of 125 degrees? I was sure I could cope with a New York summer."

"But I couldn't. It was simply unbearable. I spent all day in the country, but I had to come to the theater at night, and the nights were terrible. I could get no rest at all."

Now she is pleased to be back at her profession and to return to Hollywood to visit her chums.

Technologists Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 28th national convention of the American Medical Technologists will be held at Little Rock Wednesday through Saturday. About 800 persons are expected to attend the sessions. Most will be for presentation of technical papers. National officers will be installed Saturday.

WHAT WILL YOU DO WITH YOUR FORTUNE?

Figure it up. By the time you're 65, you'll have earned a tidy fortune. But you'll probably have spent most of it, too. So, between now and then, you should provide for an income upon reaching retirement age, plus protection for your family if you should die before then. Our retirement plans are especially designed to accomplish both purposes. And the accompanying peace of mind can cost you as little as $1 a week. A quick phone call will bring you specific details on low rates and the full story on Woodmen of the World's outstanding program of fraternal and social benefits.

thing." Magnolia — "I haven't even considered it."

Arkadelphia — "I don't think they'll even be in the state."

Batesville — "No (sound of telephone disconnect)."

Hot Springs — "I don't have them on hand I haven't ordered them and I don't plan to."

El Dorado — "I don't believe in that type of exposure of the body. Of course, I sell two piece women's suits, and what they do with the top is their own business."

Fayetteville — Mayor Guy Brown, the only polled city where the suits probably will be sold, said:

"We will not permit them at the city swimming pools."

An officer at Little Rock asked what his reaction would be if he encountered a bare-bosomed lass at a public beach, replied, "Startled."

Batesville police authorities said "There must be a city ordinance to cover that sort of ordinance to cover that sort of thing."

Most of the cities had laws against indecent exposure, but some left doubt that, under the proper circumstances, they would be enforceable against the new swim suit.

Newport's ordinance, for instance, says it is unlawful "to bathe or swim in the White River or any other waters in the corporate limits of the city in the daytime being naked or insufficiently clothed to prevent indecent exposure to his or her person."

Anyone for a nighttime swim in the White River?

BALTIMORE (AP) — The son of atheist Madalyn Murray has married the teen-aged girl who is in the middle of a bitter court wrangle between her parents and Mrs. Murray.

The wedding of William Murray, 18, and the former Susan Abramovitz, 17, was announced Sunday during a hectic session in Municipal Court.

Mrs. Murray, William, Susan and Mrs. Murray's mother, Bonna Mays, 73, all were in court to answer charges resulting from a brawl with police at Mrs. Murray's Baltimore home Saturday.

Mrs. Murray's lawyer, Leonard Kerpelman, told the court that William and Susan were married last Tuesday at Frederick, Md., 50 miles east of here. Ellis Wachter, clerk of the Frederick County Circuit Court, confirmed Sunday night that he performed the ceremony.

Susan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard J. Abramovitz, in an earlier suit had accused Mrs. Murray and William of inducing Susan to move in with the Murrys and abandon her Jewish religion.

Mrs. Murray, who brought the suit which resulted in last year's U.S. Supreme Court decision that required religious exercises in public schools is unconstitutional, faces six charges of as-

Wants Talks With Road Director

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Odell Dorsey, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, wants to find out how the state Highway Department picks engineering firms to plan Arkansas projects.

Dorsey said Saturday he had sent a letter to Wayne Hampton of Stuttgart, chairman of the state Highway Commission, asking to meet with him within 10 days to discuss the matter.

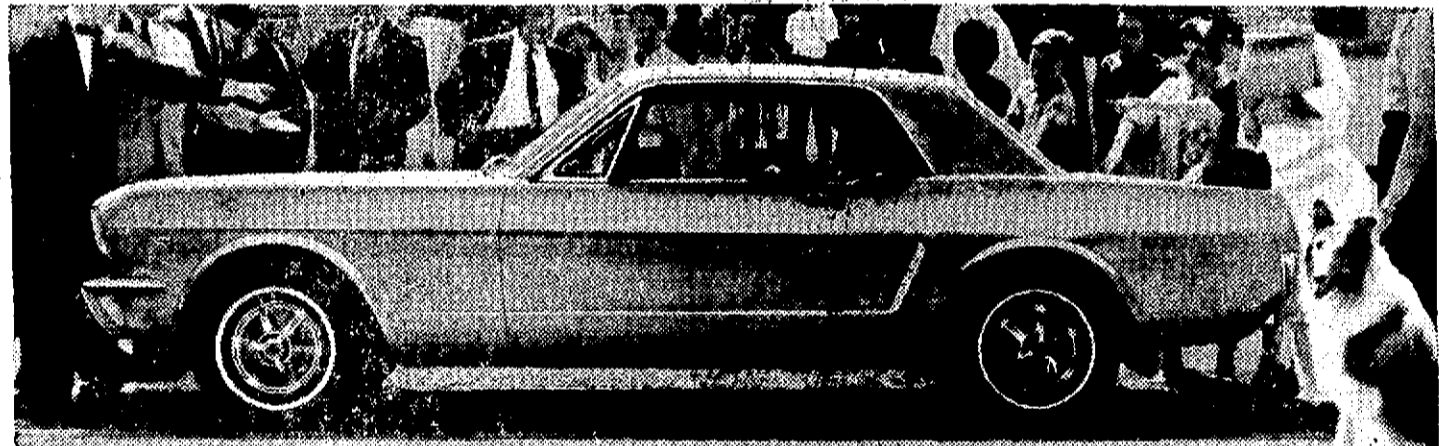

Dorsey recently said that out-of-state engineering firms got nearly $17 million of $18 million in fees in recent years. He said the fees are "negotiated—not given out on a low-bid basis."

saulting policemen.

The Saturday melee developed after police were tipped that Susan had been seen in the Murray home. They had been searching for her since June 2 to serve a contempt-of-court citation.

The judge hearing the criminal court case brought by Susan's parents had placed her temporarily in the custody of an aunt and uncle, ordered her to remain in Maryland, and prohibited her parents and the Murrys from contacting her until the case was settled. He cited Susan for contempt when she sent him a letter saying she was leaving the state.

Mrs. Murray, her son and her mother waived preliminary hearing on the assault charges, and Judge Joseph G. Finnerty set bond in their cases.

Some people just didn't realize how much Fords have changed. Then, they came in to see Mustang — and took their first good look around a Ford showroom. They saw the hottest line of cars in America... the "Car of the Year" Award winners... the best-built Fords ever. They saw cars so smartly styled, so easy to handle, so good to drive, that they made this the best sales year in Ford Division history even before the Mustang came out. They saw America's leading performance car — the Super Torque Ford (hardtop sales up 54%). They saw America's most famous personal luxury car — Thunderbird — with sales up 68% over last year's record. They found out why Falcon almost outsells Chevy II and Valiant combined. And why Fairlane is a pace-setter in its own field. One look can make you fall in love with any one of Ford's 46 models. A test drive can make you a Ford man forever.
